Flyers run past Warriors, 26-6 GC ends 'successful' season

By Dave Whaley
Staff writer

The East St. Louis Flyer football team has undergone a personality change. The transformation was not kind to the Warriors on Wednesday.

Flyer coach Bob Shannon thought his team would be able to throw the ball in 1991, but as the weeks went by East St. Louis relied more and more on its ground game. Quarterback Deondre Singleton was practically invisible Wednesday at Memorial Stadium as the Flyers methodically rubbed out the Warriors 26-6 in the first round of the Illinois Class 6A playoffs.

East St. Louis (9-1) moves on to the second round Saturday, while Granite City ends one of the most successful football seasons in school history with an 8-2 record. Both losses were to the Flyers. The Warriors lost 31-19 in East St. Louis on Oct. 4.

"I'm sorry the season is over," said Warrior coach Tom Wroblek. "This was a terrific group of young men to work with. I couldn't be prouder of a group of kids. They feel badly right now, but they will realize what a good season they had."

East St. Louis picked up 373 yards on the ground while Singleton — one of the top quarterbacks in the state last year — threw the ball only five times for 22 yards. Senior halfback Chris Moore carried 22 times for 228 yards and two touchdowns, including a 66-yard touchdown run late in the first quarter which gave the Flyers a 12-0 lead.

Roderick Fisher Jr. gave the Flyers a boost with 101 yards on only six carries and the other two touchdowns. He scored the game's first touchdown on a 34-yard run only two minutes after the opening kickoff. Moore added a nine-yard touchdown run in the second quarter and Fisher closed the scoring with a 36-yard run late in the third quarter.

"We allowed the big play this time," said Wroblek. "We were able to avoid that last time and hung in the game."

The Warriors managed 177 yards of total offense — 160 on the ground. Senior running back Mike Vaughn ended his high school career with a fine performance, carrying 124 yards on 11 carries. He scored Granite City's only touchdown on a 13-yard run early in the second half and had 11 of his yards after the interception. But the Warriors managed to run only 11 more plays on offense after Vaughn's score as the Flyers controlled the ball.

"Our offensive line took charge tonight," said Shannon, whose team is ranked No. 1 in the state and is trying for its sixth state title. "We made some mistakes last time, but we were heads-up tonight."

"Granite City did a fine job running on us, but when teams make the playoffs it's hard to shut them down. Granite has a nice club. You have to have a winner and a loser, and fortunately we came out the winner tonight."

Parker, Nemeth, Noeth win election

Jim Noeth earned a seat on the Granite City School Board on Tuesday, outdistancing nine other candidates and winning support on 43 percent of the ballots cast.

According to the unofficial final results from Madison County Clerk Evelyn Bowles, Noeth received 2,374 votes to take one of the three seats up for election. The other winners of four-year terms were Carolyn Nemeth with 1,978 votes (36 percent) and incumbent Jeff Parker with 1,906 votes (34 percent).

In Venice, all three incumbents were re-elected. Noeth, a recently retired educator, spent 36 years as a teacher, reading coordinator and counselor in area schools, including Granite City. He attributed his success to close friends and family members.

"Initially, I'll just size things up, take my time, and see how to bring the best harmony to the board," he said. Eventually, he said, he will focus on updating the curriculum and computer system, and enhancing the educational atmosphere.

Jeff Parker

Carolyn Nemeth

Jim Noeth

"We have an excellent school system. It has always been good. But of course, we can always do better," Noeth said. "I can work real well with the present board and those new members coming in. We see eye to eye with each other in a lot of our philosophies."

Parker, a 14-year veteran of the Granite City police force, had been appointed to the board in 1990 to finish the term of Paul Ray Bowler, who resigned from the board.

Parker had previously served on the board after being appointed in 1988 to finish the term of Ranney Rich, who resigned. Parker lost a bid to be elected to a term in 1989.

"I'm just happy I was in the top three. I worked hard to get back (on the board), because I really wanted it," Parker said. "I think (Noeth and Nemeth) will do a good job, and we can work well together."

"I want to thank all the people who worked for and supported me, and all the voters of District 9 who voted for me. I'll do my best to do a good job for them."

Hiring issue called 'misunderstanding'

By Bob Slate
Staff writer

Saying they were satisfied that no impropriety occurred during a closed session at the Oct. 22 council meeting, Granite City aldermen put an end Tuesday night to allegations that they were intentionally misled prior to voting to hire a new police officer.

An investigation into the matter, called for by the City Council's Legal and Legislative Committee, was subsequently dropped.

"I said some things in a heated moment that maybe I shouldn't have," 6th Ward Alderman Andy Timko said Tuesday night. "I have done some checking on my own, and am satisfied that nobody intentionally misled anyone."

Whitaker and 3rd Ward Alderman Andy Timko each had said they were misled regarding the cost the city would incur by hiring a new police officer. They said they were led to believe the action would cost the city $4,000, but later learned that figure included salary only, and the actual cost was closer to

Cruse smoldering over leaf burning defeat

By Bob Slate
Staff writer

Granite City residents who want to burn tree leaves will have to go somewhere else to do it.

A 25-minute debate and five amendments preceded a 7-6 City Council vote Tuesday night, defeating an ordinance that would have permitted leaf burning.

Alderman Jim Miller asked the council to consider eliminating leaf burning entirely by June 1993, but the Tuesday vote put the council more than a year ahead of that schedule.

Mayor Von Dee Cruse, a strong proponent of burning, said his telephone was ringing off the hook Wednesday morning, and that he was referring all calls to the aldermen who voted the measure down.

Voting against the ordinance were 2nd Ward Aldermen Miller and Craig Tarpo, 3rd Ward Alderman Andy Timko, 6th Ward Alderman Tom Candler, 6th Ward Alderman Walter Milton and Judy Whitaker and 7th Ward Alderman Sandy Crises.

First Ward Aldermen Casmer Skubish and Juanita Crawley, 3rd Ward Alderman Paul Fisk, 4th Ward Aldermen Dan Portney and Dan Brown and 7th Ward Alderman Jeff Worthen voted to adopt the ordinance.

Fifth Ward Alderman Ginny O'Bear was unable to attend the meeting due to a death in her family.

Cruse said prior to the vote, "I still believe... way the majority of the (public) is in favor of burning leaves."

Many of the aldermen had problems with the ordinance as it was initially presented, including the material allowed and the conditions under which burning would be permitted.

The initial measure would have permitted the burning of tree trimmings, branches, stumps, brush, weeds, grass, shrubbery, yard trimmings and leaves.

"Soon, you're going to want to burn everything in the city — including houses," Timko said.

All waste except leaves was eventually removed from the ordinance.

Cruse said the ordinance would have permitted burning from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. seven days per week through Dec. 1. The final proposal expended hours to 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.; limited days to Monday, Wednesday and Saturday; and extended the deadline to Jan. 5.

Worthen, who asked for the limitation on the number of days, said his nine-year-old daughter had asked him earlier in the day, "Dad, you're not going to let them pollute our environment and burn leaves, are you?"

"There are alternatives to leaf burn-

GOP suit on remap is blocked

A federal judge has blocked an attempt by Republicans to move a challenge to their redistricting plan out of the Illinois Supreme Court.

U.S. District Judge Ann C. Williams rejected a request by Secretary of State George Ryan that a challenge to the constitutionality and fairness of the map drawn by the Republican majority on the Legislative Redistricting Commission be moved to federal court.

Attorney General Roland Burris, a Democrat, had filed the challenge in the Illinois Supreme Court.

Burris cited a part of the Illinois Constitution stating the Supreme Court has the original

Complaint methods on sexual harassment vary

GCC has special policy; hospital has none

By Mike Myers
Staff writer

Women employed by Granite City's two largest employers — Granite City Steel and St. Elizabeth Medical Center — face very different situations if they feel they are being sexually harassed.

GCC Steel employees, through the Steelworkers union, have an established method of filing a sexual harassment complaint, with professionals in the field available to help them.

And, according to Buddy Davis, director of District 34, United Steelworkers of America, the union is in the process of re-evaluating its procedures for handling sexual harassment complaints in light of the Anita Hill-Clarence Thomas hearings.

At SEMC there is no special procedure for handling a sexual harassment complaint, according to Deborah Williams, public relations director. Williams said the procedure for any type of employee complaint is to go to the immediate supervisor, then the department head, then the administrator and finally the board.

If one or more of those people is involved, "obviously the person can skip to as high as it takes," she said.

"I'd say that hospital is playing with fire," said Louise Fitzgerald, a professor of psychology and educational psychology at the University of Illinois and a nationally-recognized expert on sexual harassment.

Fitzgerald said past court rulings, including rulings by the U.S. Supreme Court, make any organi-

Thin line on harassment

By Mike Myers
Staff writer

The boundary line between innocent activity and sexual harassment can be as fine as the Virginian's line between life and death when he said "When you call me that, smile."

"Women want to fit in, to sometimes be one of the boys," said Louise Fitzgerald, a professor of psychology and educational psychology at the University of Illinois and a nationally recognized expert on sexual harassment.

"In an ideal workplace it should be all right to laugh, joke, even flirt if you want to, right up to the point where the woman feels uncomfortable," Fitzgerald said.

"At that point, she should be able to say, 'Look, back off, fellow' and have it stop and not happen again."

"I know I'm being really idealistic, but the whole thing comes

According to a police report, Rea was eastbound on Rhodes when his auto crossed lane, left the roadway and struck a car in front of 1321 Rhodes St., knocking it against an auto parked in front of 1323 Rhodes.

Rea was discovered by police to be asleep in his car. He was lodged pending bail.

Probation charge filed

Michael J. Schaus, 28, of the 1200 block of Grand Avenue, Madison, was arrested at 9:25 p.m. Nov. 2 on a felony warrant charging him with burglary as a violation of his probation. He was turned over to Madison County authorities.

Driver booked for DUI

Johnny W. Lindsey, 26, of the 3100 block of 31st Avenue was arrested at 12:55 a.m. Nov. 4 and charged with driving under the influence of alcohol.

Granite City

An officer reported observing Lindsey's car weaving in an eastbound lane of Edwardsville Road, allegedly crossing the center line near the intersection of 20th Street. The officer followed Lindsey to Nameoki Road, stopped the car and arrested him.

Lindsey posted his driver's license and $102 as bail and was released.

7 charges against man

Raymond M. Israel Jr., 28, of Abel Court, was arrested at 7:40 p.m. Nov. 3 and charged with driving under the influence of alcohol, battery, illegal transportation of alcohol, disobeying a stop sign, improper use of registration, having a defective car windshield and operating an uninsured vehicle.

A witness told police a gold 1980 Chevrolet Monte Carlo had been driven erratically in the 2700 block of State Street.

An officer reported observing the car pass a stop sign at State Street and 27th Street, and following the car to 27th and Iowa streets.

The officer ordered Israel and two other men to exit the vehicle. An open 12-ounce bottle of beer allegedly was found on the front floorboard.

Anthony J. Wallace, 25, of the 1600 block of Delmar Avenue, a passenger in the car, was arrested on a warrant charging him with criminal damage to property.

A third man was released without charges.

Israel allegedly swore at an officer, spit on the officer's face and challenged him to a fight. At the police station, Israel allegedly called the booking officer a name.

He was released after posting bail.

Reports jewelry taken

Debra A. Stanton of the 2300 block of Lincoln Avenue reported in late October that a diamond wedding/engagement ring set, valued at $2,000, and a $100 watch were taken from a coffee table at a home in the 2400 block of Madison Avenue on Aug. 3.

Object shatters window

David C. Forsy of Riveria Drive said he was driving south in the 2500 block of Madison Avenue at 12:18 p.m. Nov. 1 when he heard a loud "pop" noise, followed by the glass shattering in the door window on the passenger's side door.

Glass was sprayed inside the vehicle and a small amount of glass dropped onto the roadway.

Matthew Forsy, 19, the driver's brother, was seated in the front passenger seat at the time of the incident but was not injured, a report said.

A similar incident occurred in the same area on Oct. 25 when pellets were fired at a van, cracking its rear window.

Warrant served on man

Mark Alvin Midkiff, 26, of the 1700 block of Olive Street was halted in a traffic stop in the 1700 block of Olive Street by a Terminal Railroad police lieutenant at 12:38 a.m. Nov. 2.

Midkiff was arrested by Granite City police and was served a Wood River warrant that alleged failure to appear on a charge of driving under the influence of alcohol.

Madison Avenue arrest

Mark A. Kaufenberg, 25, of the 3200 block of Maryville Road was arrested at 1:19 a.m. Oct. 31 and charged with driving under the influence of alcohol.

A police officer reported pulling behind a gray 1990 Chevrolet Cavalier in the 2000 block of Madison Avenue, where he clocked it at 54 miles per hour in a 30 mph zone.

The officer reported activating red emergency lights, but the driver allegedly continued through Madison Avenue intersections at Niedringhaus Avenue, 22nd Street, 23rd Street and 24th Street, where he allegedly drifted across the double yellow center line and into an oncoming traffic lane.

The motorist righted his car and the officer reported activating the patrol car's siren.

Kaufenberg pulled into the parking lot at Hardee's, 27th Street and Madison Avenue, where he was arrested.

He was released upon posting $102 cash and his driver's license as bail.

Abduction by 2 thwarted

Granite City police are investigating the attempted abduction of a local woman, occurring late Friday night, Nov. 1.

The woman, 24, reported at 11 p.m. that two men had attempted to pull her into an auto at Leonard and Myrtle avenues about 10:45 p.m. She described the car as a 1978 or 1977 tan or gold colored Nova.

One of the men was between 25 and 30 years old and the second assailant was about 20 with black hair and a black mustache.

The victim broke free of the men and ran home, she told officers who interviewed her at her residence.

News in review

News in review provides a summary of some of the past week's stories. This column is designed for out-of-town readers who do not receive the Sunday and Wednesday Press-Record/Journals.

A 79-year-old resident of the Colonial Haven Nursing Home in Granite City apparently died of exposure Friday morning after she apparently wandered from the facility.

Valma F. Hurst, who suffered from Alzheimer's Disease, was discovered without signs of life at 8:37 a.m. in a field behind Partney Estates, according to police. She was pronounced dead at the scene by Madison County Coroner Investigator Roger Smith.

Ken Kaburek, administrator of the nursing home, said he was unsure when Hurst may have left the building.

The preliminary results of a blood-lead study of residents of Granite City, Madison, Venice and Pontoon Beach conducted by the Illinois Department of Public Health show that just over 5 percent of those tested had blood lead levels exceeding the federal safety guidelines.

Although the IDPH said it is too early to reach firm conclusions about the source of the contamination, the IDPH's Tom Schaffer said, "There is an indication ... of lead paint in the home" of all of the participants who exceeded the safe level.

The tests were run in conjunction with, but independently of, the federal Environmental Protection Agency's plans to remove all residential soil exceeding 500 parts per million of lead in a large area surrounding the Taracorp lead waste pile, located just south of downtown Granite City.

The Salvation Army in Granite City will begin taking applications for Christmas assistance on Monday, Nov. 18. The applications will be accepted weekdays, from 9 a.m. to noon and 1 p.m. to 4 p.m., through Nov. 27. The Salvation Army in Granite expects to serve about 1,000 families this Christmas and it also supplies names to other groups and organizations, including Granite City High School, the Mexican Honorary Society and the Granite City Fire Department.

Vadalabene to seek re-election again

State Sen. Sam Vadalabene, a 25-year veteran of the Legislature, will seek re-election next year.

Vadalabene, 77, said he decided to announce his plans early to quell any speculation he was retiring.

"I think I can still do a lot of good for the area and will continue my support of elementary, secondary and higher education, continuation of highway projects, the expansion of bicycle trails and protecting the beauty of the bluffs," Vadalabene said.

The Edwardsville Democrat said he would continue to use his campaign slogan of "Sen. Sam stands for service" and would "keep my commitment of being a hard-working full-time senator."

Vadalabene has been in the Senate since 1971. Before that, he was in the House for four years.

He is Senate Majority Caucus chairman and has regularly won re-election by wide margins.

A proposed map of legislative districts approved by the Republican-controlled Legislative Redistricting Commission would add areas to Vadalabene's district where he has not run before. They include Collinsville and Caseyville.

Vadalabene said he planned to meet soon with the Democratic precinct committeemen in the new areas to seek their help in the campaign.

"I don't feel like I'm a stranger anywhere in the region, and I won't campaign any differently than I have the last 25 years," he said he would spend only as much campaign money "as necessary, and I've never been a big spender."

All 59 members of the Illinois Senate will be up for election next year because of redistricting. A drawing later will determine who will be running for two-year terms and who for four-year terms.

Chili, crafts at Township Hall

The annual "all you can eat chili dinner" and craft festival, sponsored by the Mount Zion Women's Missionary Society, will take place from 11 a.m. until 5 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 9, at the Granite City Township Hall, 2080 Delmar Ave.

Cost for the chili dinner is $3 for adults and $1.50 for children aged five through 12. Youngsters under five are free.

Holiday crafts and home-made cakes, pies and candy will be offered for sale at the fair.

The public is invited.

All proceeds will be contributed to the society's Love Gift fund for missionaries, the sponsors said.

Conference to focus on preventing child abuse

The ARK of St. Clair County, a non-profit organization to encourage, support, and foster quality services for children will host a conference Nov. 13 at the Belleville Teen Center, 4001 North Belt West, to determine priority areas of focus to prevent child abuse and neglect.

Area service providers and concerned citizens are invited to participate in focus group discussion between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m.

A study of needs in the area, based on a telephone survey of 400 homes and a written survey of 300 child serving agencies, was recently completed and its results will be presented at the conference.

Carolyn Chapman, president of

The ARK and convener of the task force, said, "It was gratifying to learn that the study indicated high interest in community action to prevent child abuse, as well as a willingness to help solve this tragic problem."

Agencies serving on the task force besides The ARK include: Call For Help, Catholic Social Services, Children's Center for Behavioral Development, Children's Home and Aid Society, Illinois Department of Children and Family Services, In Touch, St. Clair County Alternatives for At Risk Students, St. Clair County Youth Board, and Regional Superintendent of Schools Martha O'Malley.

Presson trial is under way

Testimony has begun in the jury trial of a man accused of stealing public money to pay a private debt.

Ronald Presson, 42, the former head of the Southwestern Illinois Tourism Bureau, now based in Highland, is charged with stealing $10,000 from the bureau to pay off a personal debt. Assistant State's Attorney Duane Bailey said during opening statements Nov. 4.

The bureau serves an eight-county area, including much of Madison County.

Presson's attorney, Ralph Mendelsohn, reserved his opening statement, but he has said the alleged theft was an accounting error and not a crime.

Presson was charged Aug. 23, 1990, with felony theft after a special audit of the bureau's books revealed "misappropriation" of money.

Prosecutors alleged the Collinsville man authorized and cashed a $10,000 check in May 1990 to pay for a promotional film, knowing the film had already been paid for.

Initial prosecution witnesses included an accountant who audited the bureau's books, one of Presson's former co-workers and a man who personally loaned Presson $10,000.

Accountant David Wrigley, who took care of the bureau's books for two years, testified that he was asked to do a special audit.

"The board had suspected there had been some misappropriation of funds," he said. "I was not able to find anything to substantiate the $10,000. I never did see any kind of receipt."

Robert Ermovick, former vice president of the organization, also testified he couldn't account for the $10,000.

"I had no documentation to support that expenditure," Ermovick said.

Alcohol no excuse for murder

If a person gets drunk, picks up a gun, aims it at another person, pulls the trigger and the other person drops dead, a jury is going to call it first-degree murder.

That's because the action taken by the person with the gun is one that a reasonable person would assume could result in death. Whether or not the person was drunk.

But if a person gets drunk, gets in a car, starts down the highway, runs into another person and the other person drops dead, a jury will, at most, call it involuntary manslaughter.

Is it because the action is lacking? A reasonable person would assume that, when a drunk person is propelling a ton-and-a-half of steel toward another person at 55 miles per hour, it is an action that could result in death.

Is it because the drunk driver didn't mean to do it and now, clean-shaven and sober, feels really bad about it? The chances are the drunk with the gun never meant for it to happen, either. And the drunk with the gun may feel even worse about the death since the chances are greater that that person knew his or her victim.

So what is the big difference? Law enforcement officials say it's because, on a 12-person jury, the chances are that at least six of them have, at some time in their life, driven under the influence of alcohol. Oh, they may not have been caught. It could be that not even their families know about it.

But each person knows it. And those people can't help thinking, "There but for the grace of God go I." As a result, those people feel just a little more tolerant toward the drunk behind the wheel.

What's wrong with this logic? The fact is that, sometime in our lives, every one of us has done at least one really stupid thing that we got away with.

Does this mean that, when our children do something really stupid, we have forever forfeited our right to punish them? After all, the only difference is that they got caught and we didn't.

If that argument makes sense, if we have no right to punish our children, then there is nothing wrong with the logic — let the drunk driver go.

But, if that argument sounds as silly as it is, take another look at the drunk behind the wheel. Is there any doubt that action could result in death?

If it could, it's a murderous action.

When it does, it's murder.

People can make difference

Until presented with more than a dozen mailbags containing more than 13,000 petitions from local residents in 1988, Wal-Mart had never heard of Granite City.

Next week, Wal-Mart will begin taking applications for its soon-to-open Granite City store. The area will get 185 new jobs. And the chances of future development at Wal-Mart's site on Illinois 3 are very good.

Sure, even without citizens' prodding, Wal-Mart might have eventually decided to look for a new location in the Metro East area. And sure, Wal-Mart might have eventually discovered Granite City on its own.

But, because local citizens made the effort, Wal-Mart didn't have to. For that, we owe those citizens thanks.

Having a Wal-Mart means more sales tax revenue for the city and that should mean less property tax than might otherwise be expected from homeowners.

The Wal-Mart store will draw shoppers from outside the area who may decide to spend their money at other local businesses, generating still more sales tax and maybe even more jobs.

No matter how you look at it, the new store is good news.

Hardship, heartbreak for jobless in Illinois

(Guest column by U.S. Sen. Alan Dixon, D-Belleville)
One of the great joys of being a senator from Illinois is having the chance to meet so many Illinoisans of diverse backgrounds and interests.

From Winthrop Harbor in the north to Cairo in the south, the people of Illinois have a thousand stories to tell. At town meetings, county fairs and just on the street, I cherish the privilege of talking with Illinois citizens from across this great state.

Sadly, many of the stories I have been hearing lately have been tales of economic woe.

As with the rest of our country, Illinois finds itself in the middle of an economic recession. Our state unemployment for September was at 7.1 percent, almost a half a percentage point higher than the national level.

What I hear from people across the state is disheartening. Illinoisans who have spent their whole lives working hard to buy homes, provide for their families, and send their children to college now find themselves out-of-work.

These people aren't deadbeats. Far from it, these Illinoisans are pillars of their communities and have never ever asked for a handout. And many have searched long and hard for new jobs but have been unable to find work as our economy remains sluggish.

Over the last 12 months, more than 3 million American workers exhausted their state unemployment benefits, which run out after 26 weeks.

Once these benefits run out, many go on to exhaust their painstakingly acquired savings — savings which were supposed to supplement their Social Security benefits during retirement.

After that, heartbreaking choices have to be made, such as whether to send a child back to college or to make the house payment.

I don't think the working men and women of Illinois and America should have to make those choices. That is why on Oct. 2 I voted in favor of The Emergency Unemployment Compensation Act, S. 1722.

This act would provide seven additional weeks of unemployment benefits and allow them to stay financially afloat while they continue their search for employment.

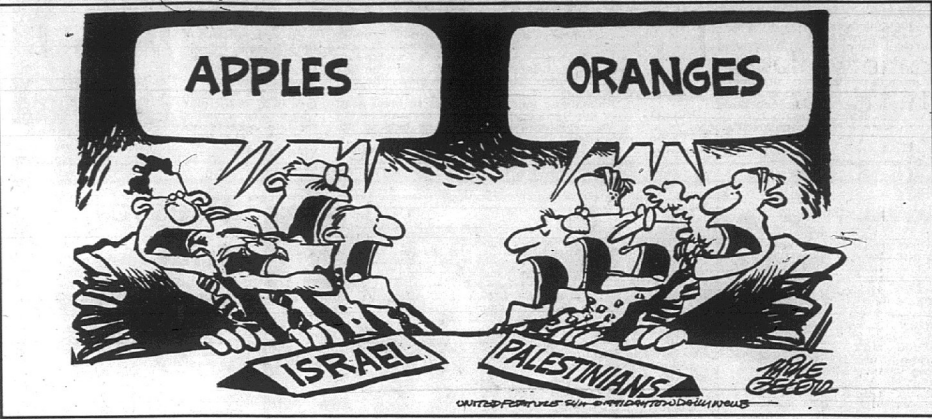

It is important that we provide this critical relief to the millions of workers who have exhausted their benefits but cannot find work due to the ongoing recession.

These people serve as the backbone of our great land and I will not turn my back on them.

I joined 64 of my Senate colleagues in voting for these additional benefits so that the working men and women of Illinois and America could stand tall and maintain their dignity until the economy improves.

I look forward to a day in the not-so-distant future when the working men and women of Illinois can again tell me uplifting stories of economic prosperity.

Until then, I will stand by the working men and women of Illinois in their time of need.

How soon we forget new democracies

Comment by U.S. Sen. Paul Simon, D-Ill.

One of the more thoughtful observers in the nation is David Gergen, senior-at-large for U.S. News and World Report.

Recently he wrote: "America's response to the emergence of fledgling democracies has been uneven, halting and at times shameful."

"We celebrate news of their birth, only to lose interest in their survival. We congratulated ourselves on removing Noriega, but today Panama is almost ignored, the drug trade has returned with a vengeance and unemployment is at 20 percent."

"We danced when the Berlin Wall fell, but our help for Eastern Europe has been modest at best... We must remember that democracies can die just as easily as they live... What's needed is a reordering of our foreign policy, swiftly moving away from the anti-communism of the past to a pro-democracy stance for the future."

Our guest

When nations were threatened by Stalin and his successors in the Soviet Union, the United States responded with a huge budget.

When our presidents tell us there are other military threats — real or imagined — the American people support the president.

We spend billions for weapons of questionable value with hardly a whimper. But to spend a tiny fraction of that amount to help people in distress and to encourage democracy seems painful. Yet our citizens believe fervently in democracy and are generous to those in need.

What causes this apparent inconsistency?

First, Americans know that we have major unmet needs in our nation. If they felt our government was moving vigorously to help our own people, there would be greater tolerance of assistance abroad. But they know that help for our own people is anemic.

Second, there is an exaggerated sense of how much foreign economic aid there is. It is one-half of one percent of the budget.

But spending on foreign military programs (including what we spend for the defense of Europe and Japan) is much more significant, about 10 percent of the budget. That can and should be reduced.

We spend less on economic foreign aid than the Western European nations and Japan, but significantly more for foreign military aid.

Third, the president, members of Congress and the media have to do a better job of explaining the issues and the importance of needs of others to the future of our own nation.

Helping Lithuania or Poland or Ethiopia seems remote of our shores and our interests. But we have much at stake in these nations.

As other nations raise their standards of living, they can buy from us and create American jobs. As John F. Kennedy said, "The rising tide lifts all the boats."

When we encourage democracies, we also encourage the development of a world in which it is less likely that our sons and daughters will be sent elsewhere to fight.

If Iraq had a democracy instead of a dictator, there would have been no invasion of Kuwait.

No two free countries have ever fought each other.

Democracy is not only a nice theory and a way to keep people free and raise their standard of living, promoting democracy is also a way to preserve lives. Our lives.

Ownership of home important

TO THE EDITOR:

The American Dream of buying a home is slipping away, with this country experiencing the first decline in home ownership since the Great Depression of the 1930s.

Stimulating home ownership may well be the most important step we can take to boost Illinois' economy, as well as the local economy in communities across the state.

Those who own their own home have a greater stake in their community; they patronize local businesses, vote in local elections, support local schools. They have the civic pride and dedication that help build a stronger community.

That's why I am pleased to give a boost to home ownership by offering Illinois families the HOME Program, Home Ownership Made Easy.

HOME helps families plan to buy their first home, with a savings program that will accumulate the money needed for down payment and closing costs.

Given today's lower interest rates, the steep down payment remains the most serious obstacle to home ownership.

However, putting a small amount of money aside each month in a HOME savings account will help break down the barrier to home ownership, a reality for Illinois families.

The HOME program is easy, flexible and convenient. Savers set their own goals, and make their own decision about how much to save. We'll even send a coupon book as a reminder.

The 1990s can be the "Decade of Home Ownership" in Illinois. I urge anyone who is thinking about buying their first home (or anyone who has not owned a home in the last two years) to call the toll-free HOME hot line: 1-800-535-1164.

Licensing for cats in county

TO THE EDITOR:

The cat-licensing plan recently proposed by the Madison County Board's Animal Control Committee should receive pet owners' enthusiastic endorsement.

Although there's certain to be a few outraged cat owners who will object to the small licensing fee, let's hope they remain a minority, for the plan offers benefits at relatively little cost.

First, the proposed differential licensing plan — under which pet owners who allow their cats to breed pay a higher fee — is a first big step toward controlling the severe pet overpopulation problem in the county.

Humane advocates' encouragement of spaying and neutering has unfortunately had too little effect on irresponsible pet owners.

By providing an economic incentive to spay or neuter, the county will be helping to provide a real solution to the pet population explosion. At present, regrettably, the only "solution" is to kill the thousands of unwanted animals after they are born and discarded.

Second, by providing licensing tags to cat owners, Madison County Animal Control will be able to reunite lost cats with their owners.

At present, only a handful of the cats that enter the county's facility are ever returned to their owners.

(Because outside cats often wander and are away for a few days, owners often don't realize they are missing until it's too late and the animals have been killed.)

In counties where licensing has been instituted, there have been dramatic improvements in locating the owners of lost cats.

And third, by requiring an annual rabies shot, the county will be addressing a potential health problem it has until now ignored.

Cats, because they often hunt and kill wild animals, are as likely as dogs to contract rabies. It seems only logical that both dogs and cats should receive rabies preventative.

I urge pet owners to support the county's efforts to control the pet overpopulation and to improve the chances of survival for lost pets by endorsing the cat-licensing proposal.

Right decision by Air Force

TO THE EDITOR:

The United States Air Force is to be commended for its decision to allow joint civilian-military use at Scott Air Force Base.

Scott joint use will serve as a key magnet in attracting investment in the area.

At least 1,600 construction jobs during the next 15 years. An enterprise zone to St. Clair County, resulting in increased business opportunities and revenues.

Businesses such as the proposed McDonnell Douglas MD-12X jet assembly plant to St. Clair County, which would bring with it a $250 million payroll and 8,000 jobs, providing an increased tax base.

We should all see this as a great opportunity for economic growth in our communities which will provide a bright, productive and profitable future for all.

TED EILERMAN

Joint use would create new jobs

TO THE EDITOR:

Even though we have made much progress, we're far from finished in our efforts to make Scott Joint Use a reality.

I believe it is an extremely important development for the area. In addition to serving as a reliever airport to Lambert International Airport, it will allow for easier transportation access for Illinois residents.

Additionally, Southwestern Illinois desperately needs a boost in the economy.

A project of this magnitude would spur economic development and create jobs that are sorely needed. It would be a catalyst to bring more investments into the economy, particularly private-sector dollars.

Scott Air Force Base joint civilian-military use... let's make it happen.

Thank you for your recent coverage of our Candy Day campaign. On behalf of the Pontoon Beach Lions Club, I extend our sincere gratitude to the members of your staff.

Each year is the annual fundraising project of Illinois Lions, with proceeds used to help the blind and deaf.

Without media cooperation, Candy Day and other charitable endeavors would not be nearly so successful.

The Women's Missionary Society of the Mount Zion Church will hold an "all you-can-eat" chili dinner on Saturday, Nov. 9, at the Granite City Township Hall. The dinner will be from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. There will be all kinds of craft tables and also holiday crafts, homemade pies and candy, cakes, hot dogs, nachos and cheese, desserts and drinks, along with the chili dinner. Tickets will be $3, children $1.50 and those under five years will be free.

*** The Ruth Class of Calvary Baptist Church met for its October monthly meeting, Tuesday night in the church library with eight present. Those present were: Norma Ross, Ruth Moser, Ruth Dagon, Maxine Hoover, Phyllis Knight, Luella Probes, Dorothy Watkins and the teacher, Pauline Weir.

Prayers were requested for Loraine Wantland, Edna Simmons, Sue Lewis, Shirley Worster, Nancy Dunlap, Pam Vasquez, Maxine Hoover's daughter and granddaughter, Pauline Weir, Brenda Bivens and Lois Bivens. Prayers were led by Phyllis Knight, who also gave the Devotional entitled "Aprons." Extra scripture mentioned were Acts 19:12 and Genesis 3:7. She also gave an extra topic called "Chicken Wings and Love." These were good and made us think of our blessings and days gone by.

Treasurer's report was given by Luella Probes. A cheer chairman report was given by Phyllis Knight listing 10 cards mailed, plus a carnation bouquet was sent to Pauline Weir and a remembrance flower was given to Willa Mae Reed.

The class project for November will be Thanksgiving baskets and for December helping a child from Carmi Children's Home with gifts. Pauline Weir was to call Carmi regarding a recipient. Plans were discussed for a shopping spree on Dec. 6. We are to meet at the church at 10:30 a.m. and go to Gallaria, Union Station, Tilles Park and other scenic places. We also discussed having a Christmas dinner at Meyer House; more plans will be given later, as Norma Ross was going to check this out for us. A trip was also planned

Here's your chance: You write the caption!

A contest just for laughs

While all pictures may be worth a thousand words, these photographs seem to be begging for just a few more.

All of these photos originally accompanied press releases sent to the Press-Record/Journal during the past year. The subjects they were intended to illustrate ranged from ballet to new products.

But, all have one thing in common — a person looking at the photo can't help but wonder, "What is really going on here?"

Since your guess is as good as, or hopefully better than, ours, we are giving you, the reader, a chance to fill in the blanks in the Press-Record/Journal You-Write-the-Caption Contest.

All you have to do is write down what you think is really happening in the photographs and send it to our office at 1815 Delmar Ave., Granite City, 62040, by Wednesday, Nov. 20. Each photo should be identified by its number.

Entries will be judged by a panel of experts in railway and jocularly and the winning entries will be printed in a future issue of the Press-Record.

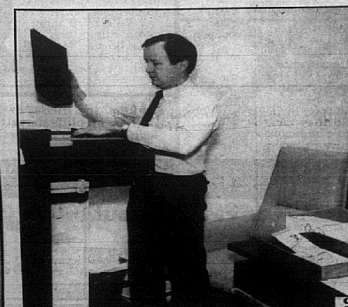

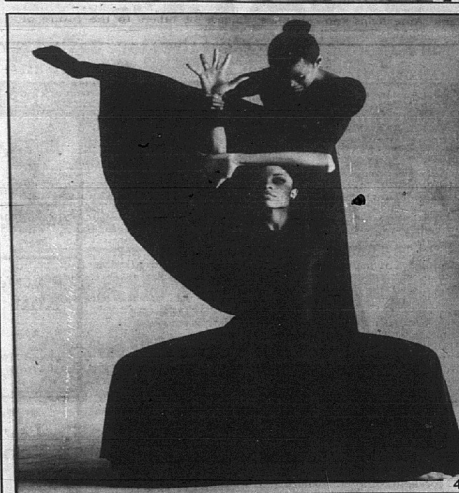

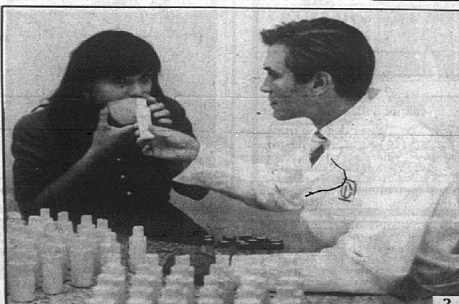

Individual winners will be awarded a handshake and the undying respect of their peers.

• Acting-school failures at a tryout for television news anchorperson.

• A group of people who just noticed the photographer's pants have fallen down.

• A group photo of the SIUE Phone Booth Stuffing team.

Festival planning beginning

A group seeking $5.5 million to bring U.S. Olympic Festival track and field events to SIUE will get out of the starting block this week.

Mary Kane, executive director of the Southwestern Illinois Development Authority and spearhead of the effort to include Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville in the festival, said the Committee of 200 will discuss fund-raising strategy.

The committee includes leaders from business, the university and athletics. Members will discuss how to approach private-sector organizations, including corporations and foundations, Kane said.

She said the committee also will discuss "ways to identify and recognize the donors." The university has until next summer to raise the money for a nine-lane track, 5,000-seat stadium, lockers and concession stands for the 1994 festival.

Kane agreed with Jim Pennekamp of the Leadership Council of Southwestern Illinois that most of the money would have to be raised in this region because the Illinois Legislature cannot be counted on for state money.

Some people have advocated having track and field events at Washington University in St. Louis, but Kane said the majority backed a regional approach. She said Washington University officials have been "very gracious and understanding." That school will be the backup site if SIUE cannot raise the money.

Kane said she thought there would "definitely be support" from both sides of the river in the fund-raising effort and that the track would be "a fine legacy for the area."

Couple's anniversary 'Hummel-ing' event

Maxine Duniphan covers the Mitchell area for the Press-Record/Journal. She can be contacted at 931-2714.

C.G. and Shirley Pasley of Fleming Avenue in Mitchell celebrated their 40th wedding anniversary Saturday evening with a champagne dinner at Andria's Country Side Restaurant in rural Edwardsville. The event was hosted by the couple's family.

The Pasleys were married Oct. 28, 1951, in Randolph County, Ark., by a justice of the peace.

They have two children, a son, Michael Pasley of Edwardsville, and a daughter, Melody McElroy of Granite City. They have three grandchildren, Rebecca and Angela McElroy and Brent Pasley.

Also attending the celebration were Robert McElroy, Dianne Locks, Lester and Theresa Morgan, and Peggy Raymond.

Following dinner, the group was invited to the home of Michael Pasley, where the honorees were presented with a beautiful anniversary cake and gifts. Because the Pasleys love and collect Hummel figurines their gifts included several. One was a "Honey Antler" Hummel, which was especially dear, Shirley Presley said.

C.G. Pasley is a former employee of American Steel Foundries and Nestle Co. He retired from Nestle Co. in 1986 after 25 years of service there. The Pasleys have lived their entire married life in Mitchell.

Members of the Chouteau Township Senior Citizens will meet at the Chouteau Township Social Center Thursday evening for line dance classes. The group meets at 7 p.m.

Maxine Duniphan

Members of the Camera Explorer's Club met Monday evening at the Hartford Public Library for their annual Photographic Salon, where the photograph of the year was chosen.

All the photographs that had qualified for points in the previous months of 1991 were displayed. Competition was keen. The combined categories included about 150 photographs and slides. Acting as judge was special guest Robert K. Gaul, a retired photographer for the Alton Telegraph.

Nancy Huebner was the first-place winner in the Color Category and Earl Naylor captured both the second- and third-place honors. First- and second-place honors went to Beverly Zagar and third place to Maxine Duniphan in the Black and White Category.

Jerry White was the first-place winner in slides. Nancy Huebner took second and Earl Naylor took third place.

Photographs receiving Honorable Mention submitted Color Category were by Bob Bethel and Earl Naylor. In Black and White were by Maxine Duniphan and Earl Naylor. The Slides winners were Nancy Huebner and Earl Naylor.

The club's next meeting will be Dec. 1, when the group will hold its annual awards dinner, when points for the year will be tallied to decide the photographer of the year.

Isaiah 40:29... "He gives power to the faint; and to them that have no might he increases strength."

God is our helper. He is for us and not against us. Many times we are victims of our own inventions and then falsely accuse God of not caring for us.

God will strengthen you when you are weak and faint. He will lift you up by His divine presence. When we are weak, then His strength is made manifest in us.

This will not happen until we acknowledge that we not only need Him, but that we also WANT Him. As long as we think we can make it by our own power, God will not intervene.

When we humble ourselves and pray, then God will send an answer to us. Are you weak today? Are you without strength today? God stands ready to answer every sincere prayer with His power and strength. Pray, today.

Policy

zation without a set policy concerning sexual harassment "very vulnerable" to potential legal action.

Fitzgerald said studies show sexual harassment is extremely widespread and said it would be "ludicrous" to assume it never occurs at a hospital.

"The best estimate is that one out of every two women will be harassed at some point during her academic or working life," she said.

"I don't know of that many studies, but based on word of mouth, I'd say nurses are tremendously vulnerable to sexual harassment."

Fitzgerald said the sexual harassment of nurses is the subject of a study being done at the Chicago campus of the University of Illinois.

Although women have never made up a large percentage of steelworkers, Davis said, "There were women steelworkers at Laclede Steel when I started in 1950 and we have always had them, as far as I know."

Davis said that most of the sexual harassment complaints through the years have involved men using foul language, making vulgar remarks, or posting vulgar posters or pin-up pictures.

Until the Thomas hearings this year by the U.S. Senate Judiciary Committee, he said, "I never realized how widespread it is. I could not have guessed by the numbers of complaints I've seen."

Fitzgerald said 97 out of 100 incidents of sexual harassment go unreported and that most women have chosen to "ignore it and hope that it will go away. Women fear retaliation, loss of career opportunities and simply not being believed."

Faced with that type of information after the Hill-Thomas hearings, Davis said, the Steelworkers union decided to prepare a pamphlet for its locals and members, designed to educate both men and women about the identification and reporting of sexual harassment.

Although never "overwhelming in number," complaints of sexual harassment have sometimes put the union in a difficult position.

"We had one recent case, in the district, not necessarily Granite City, where a male member of the union was sexually harassing a female member," Davis said. "We found ourselves in the unusual position of demanding that the male be fired, while the company was in the position of defending the job of a member of our bargaining unit."

Davis said the case ultimately went to arbitration and that the union, and the woman, lost.

"Then she had to go back and face all that peer pressure," Davis said. "We were, and are, really caught in between."

Fitzgerald agreed that unions can find themselves in very difficult situations dealing with sexual harassment.

She said that teachers unions, which have been leaders in facing the problem, often find themselves responsible for the defense of both parties in a complaint.

Still, Fitzgerald said, women represented by unions may have a better chance of getting a fair hearing of a sexual harassment complaint than women who are not.

A California study cited by Fitzgerald noted that, in 1986, half of the women who filed a formal sexual harassment complaint were fired and another quarter of them resigned due to pressures related to the complaint.

That, Davis said, "did not happen with union employees."

Fitzgerald agreed: "There is no doubt that there are great advantages to having a grievance procedure that is independent of the company's supervisors."

Hiring

$14,000 when benefits were included.

Police Chief Don Knight and the three members of the Police Committee, Tom Candler, Sandy Crites and Jim Miller, all denied Miller was fired and another was intentionally disseminated to the aldermen.

Whitaker said Tuesday her comments were "blown way out of proportion."

"I resent that certain people would use me for their own personal vendetta against the Police Department," Whitaker added.

Tinko said, "My concern was the way it was presented. Since that time, I realize the intention of the Police Committee (was not to mislead). I just didn't want to be misled."

Third Ward Alderman Paul Fink said an investigation into the allegations, called for by the Legal and Legislative Committee, was no longer necessary.

Referring to an agreement between the city and the school board which fell through earlier this year, Fink said, "I recall (the Legal and Legislative) Committee recently characterized the school crossing guard situation as 'settled.' I don't think the committee intentionally misled anyone. I think they actually thought it was settled."

Line

down to no means no."

Fitzgerald said she realizes "no means no" sounds simplistic, "sort of like Nancy Reagan," who recommended "just say no" to drug abuse. But Fitzgerald said it (no means no) really is a profound statement that goes right to the heart of the matter.

"It answers the question, 'Who gets to define the situation?' It's not sexual harassment until the woman says no," she said.

"But, at the point where the woman says no, the ballgame changes — it's now sexual harassment."

One of the problems, Fitzgerald said, is that some people seem to think that "once a woman says yes anything, she can never say no again. It's like that one yes is forever."

Even women sometimes have trouble believing the action of a friend or co-worker is actually harassment, Fitzgerald said.

He had a caller on a radio show who made her uncomfortable, but asked how it could be harassment, since it was a friend, Fitzgerald said.

"I said, 'If you got a phone call and the caller started talking about ... strange things being done to strange people, you'd know right away it was an obscene phone call and was against the law. So how could it be a friend, you think the same thing is permissible joking?'"

"I really don't think this issue is nearly as ambiguous as people make it out to be. If it makes a woman uncomfortable and she asks that it stop, then the next time it happens it's sexual harassment. No means no. That's pretty clear to me."

Since more women have entered the workforce and almost everyone has a wife, sister or daughter working, Fitzgerald said, she believes things will get better eventually.

"I have this fantasy that, all over America, men and women are sitting in their living rooms watching the Thomas hearings," she said.

"Suddenly, everywhere across the country, the woman looks at the man and says, 'The same old, same old, and I never said anything about it.'"

"I think that's what's going to change people, the knowledge that the people who are being sexually harassed are their mothers, wives, friends, sisters and daughters."

That's what it will take for people to understand the issue.

"I believe we still have a long, long time before that happens, but I believe it will."

Specifically what matters may be discussed in a closed session, and what to do when debate in such a session strays from its stated purpose.

Three aldermen said after the meeting that, while the council usually calls for a closed session for a specific purpose, the convention often branches out to subjects unrelated to the original issue.

Fisk said the issue had also raised some concern about the fact that Police Chief Knight's sons tops the patrolman eligibility list.

"The fact is, I don't want to know who is at the top of the list," Fisk said. "That decision is entirely up to the Board of Fire and Police Commissioners."

Fisk said that whoever is hired must pass physical, psychological and drug examinations, and must pass a polygraph test before being hired. Therefore, he reasoned, it is impossible to predict who will eventually get the job.

Understand the chief was attempting to talk his son out of accepting the job. I think that was a mistake."

"I think it would be wrong to criticize anyone for attempting to follow in the footsteps of his father," Fisk said.

Brown asked City Attorney Mark Goldenberg to draw up a set of guidelines delineating spe-almost head-on. She was pronounced dead at the scene at 12:04 a.m. Sunday.

Madison County State's Attorney Bill Haine called the accident a tragedy.

"It's a clear case of reckless homicide," Haine said, adding that prosecutors would recommend stiff punishment in the case.

She reminded residents that a free, alternative leaf-disposal program has been initiated in the city.

Residents may take their leaves to the Sanitation Department, 23rd and Adams streets, between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. Fridays and between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m. Saturdays.

Johns could face up to seven years in prison if convicted of the felony. Haine said he was waiting for the results of a blood test but said Johns failed a breath analysis test.

Bail was set at $75,000 by Circuit Judge Charles Romani. Johns was listed in fair condition Tuesday at Alton Memorial Hospital in Alton.

ing," Worthen said. "We are looking at the future here."

Whitaker, chairman of the Sanitation Committee and a vocal opponent of leaf burning, said after the meeting that the council was wise in taking air quality and health considerations into account and defeating the measure.

She reminded residents that a free, alternative leaf-disposal program has been initiated in the city.

Residents may take their leaves to the Sanitation Department, 23rd and Adams streets, between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. Fridays and between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m. Saturdays.

Trivia

and exclusive jurisdiction over actions concerning redistricting the House and Senate, to be initiated in the name of the people of the state by the attorney general.

Williams ruled that prior decisions held that all the parties to a case filed in state court had to agree to remove it to federal court. She noted one of the defendants, the State Board of Elections, had not agreed.

The judge also held the Legislative Redistricting Commission, which was not named as a defendant, would have had to bring the petition for removal.

She also left it up to the Illinois Supreme Court to decide whether the commission should be included as a party to the suit.

The state high court is scheduled to hear oral arguments in the case Nov. 13.

Retired Federal Employees hear Rep. Wolf

The National Association of Retired Federal Employees Chapter 1067 met at Charlie's Restaurant Oct. 14. Forty were in attendance.

President Alex Duccini called the meeting to order and Tharah Erney gave the invocation with members repeating the Pledge of Allegiance.

The guest speaker was state Rep. Sam W. Wolf, who discussed the re-districting due to the census and also spoke about the state budget, program cuts, state taxes, welfare funds and distribution of state lottery funds.

Katherine Shockley read a report and the treasurer's statement was given by Helen Martin. Duccini said he will go to the NARFE convention in Springfield. He reminded members the health benefit open season is from Nov. 12 through Dec. 10.

Marie Griffin and Ruth Wycott were named to an audit committee. Becky Slate and Daryl Few were appointed to the nominating committee.

NARFE is trying to bring its membership up to one million members it was announced. Benefits offered through NARFE are legislative power to protect annuity income, especially COLAS, timely assistance in working with OPM, a valuable service for those widowed, expert advice regarding Federal Employees Health Plan enrollment and retirement benefits and, "Retirement Life," a monthly magazine well worth the cost of NARFE dues.

Any retired federal employee wishing to join NARFE or receive more information may call 876-6450 or 951-2118. The next regular meeting of NARFE will be at Charlie's at 11:30 a.m. Nov. 11.

NSDAR hears about museum

The Drucilla Andrews Chapter National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution held its regular monthly meeting at the home of Barbara Williams on Oct. 19.

The meeting was called to order by Regent Linda Koenig with the Pledge of Allegiance to the flag of the United States. Audrey Sperry gave the President General's message, stating the organization now has 101st year celebration of historical, educational and patriotic goals.

The magic minutes were read by Emma Schoen which gave quotes from Daniel Webster and others. The Defense Report was given by Marie Reinhardt, who also read the minutes.

Betty Ford, a member of the Cahokia Mounds Chapter of the NSDAR, presented a program of pictures of various State Rooms at the DAR Museum in Washington, and with each state picture she gave a detailed description of the furnishings. The pictures included the state of Illinois. Ford is a museum correspondent.

Other members attending were Margaret Belt, Judi Schatz and Dorothy Whitmer. Williams presented a pin to Koenig. The pin denoted the 100th anniversary of DAR.

Run, Flyers, run

ESL ground game gives Warriors taste of own medicine, 26-6

By Dave Whaley
Staff writer

Perhaps the light snow that began to fall was a signal. Snow means winter, and in high school sports that means the switch from football to basketball. And so it was Wednesday evening that the curtain came down on one of the most successful football seasons in Granite City High School history.

East St. Louis 26, GRANITE CITY 6
East St. Louis 12 7 7 0-26
Granite City 0 0 0 0-6

Scoring:
ESL-Fisher 34 run (kick failed) 8:44 1st
ESL-Moore 66 run (kick failed) 3:45 1st
ESL-Moore 2 run (kick failed) 3:45 2nd
GC-Yaughn 15 run (kick failed) 8:45 2nd
ESL-Fisher 44 run (kick failed) 8:45 2nd

First downs: ESL 11, GC 9
Rushing yards: ESL 457, GC 281
Passing yards: ESL (Singleton) 340, 23 yards;
GC (Marshall) 0-14, 17 yards
Total yards: ESL 386, GC 177
Turnovers: GC 1, ESL 0
Penalties: GC 15, ESL 4/50

The Warriors gave it all they had, but it simply wasn't enough to stop the East St. Louis Flyers. The powerful visitors showed why they are the No. 1 large school team in the state with a 26-6 win in the first round of the Illinois Class 6A playoffs at Memorial Stadium.

Warrior basketball coaches Bill Ohlendorf and John Van Buskirk stood in the doorway leading from the locker room to the basketball court after the game, as if waiting for football coach Tom Wyrostek to hand over the reins for the next few months. But it was something none of them wanted to happen — just yet.

"You could see we weren't quitters," said Wyrostek after his team had finished the season at 8-2. "All of our players gave us everything they had until the end. East St. Louis is just a fine football team."

Flyer coach Bob Shannon had visions of a diversified offense this season. With Chris Moore, he knew he had one of the finest running backs in the nation. And he thought that senior quarterback Deondre Singleton would lead a passing game which would complement Moore's efforts.

Michael Dochwat of the Warriors returns a kickoff in Wednesday's playoff game against the East St. Louis Flyers

But the passing game has been a big disappointment. Singleton came into the game having thrown for only 727 yards (the third for more than 2,000 last year). So the Flyers (9-1) have spent the second half of the season concentrating on their known strength — the running game in general and Moore in particular.

Moore ran for 228 yards on 23 carries Wednesday and East St. Louis totaled 373 rushing yards. Singleton threw only five passes, completing three for 22 yards. Only one of those completions came on a scoring drive. In other words, the Flyer game plan looked like the Warrior game plan of 1991.

"We knew we might be in for some problems when they said early in the week that they realized they couldn't throw the ball," said Warrior assistant coach Bob Stegemeier.

The Flyers just used their size advantage on the offensive line and made the Warriors stop them. And when Moore didn't get the ball, senior Roderick Fisher did. He carried the ball only six times, but he picked up 101 yards, including touchdown runs of 34 and 36 yards. His first touchdown came on the fourth play of the game and gave East St. Louis a 6-0 lead after only 2:16.

"Everything teams set up is designed to stop Chris Moore," said Shannon. "Chris is going one way and Rod is going the other way, so it's kind of difficult to decide which one of them you're going to take."

That was true on a counter play on which Fisher picked up most of his yardage. He lined up as a wingback and came back on a counter play, taking the handoff and changing the direction of the play quickly.

"Rod is coming around," said Shannon. "We put him at wingback because he has some speed and he's a good blocker. He is improving each week."

"No. 10 (Fisher) hurt us a whole bunch," said Wyrostek. "That's a play we shouldn't get hurt on. But they just blocked us very well tonight."

The Warriors picked up a first down on their first drive, but quarterback Drake Marshall — who was sacked four times — was dropped by Dennis Stallings for a five-yard loss and Granite City had to punt. Fisher gained 57 yards in 10 plays, with Moore carrying the final nine yards with 3:08 left in the half for a 9-0 lead. Nathaniel Robinson missed the first two extra points, but converted this time.

Michael Dochwat returned the kickoff 37 yards and the Warriors had a chance to score before halftime. Larry Curry doubted there was anything wrong with his star back.

Kahoks advance to state, 3-2

By David Wilhelm
Staff writer

A bit prematurely, perhaps, but Collinsville High School soccer coach Ron Rowden declared on Sept. 12 that 1991 was "truly our year." Those words came after a scoreless tie against defending state champion Granite City.

In retrospect, Rowden was right on target. The Kahoks made sure of that Tuesday when they nipped Springfield 3-2 to win the Granite City Super-Sectional.

It wasn't a sterling performance by CHS (21-2-3), but it was enough. The Kahoks will be making their fourth trip to the state tournament, to be held Friday and Saturday in St. Charles.

"We'll let 'em celebrate now," said Rowden, turning away from a sea of purple-clad fans who had swarmed the Kahoks in the middle of the Gauntlet. "I'm sure when we get to our first game at state, we'll be ready to play."

GC soccer Super-sectional

The Kahoks' opponent in Friday's 5:30 p.m. quarterfinal will be Brother Rice of Chicago. The Crusaders (19-2-5) advanced to the state tournament for the second consecutive year by beating Lincoln-Way of New Lenox 1-0.

CHS will be making its fourth appearance at state. It won the title in 1981 and 1986, and finished second in 1985 all under former coach Jim Stranz.

Rowden, naturally, is delighted that the Kahoks' season is continuing, but he wasn't thrilled with the way in which they accomplished the mission against the Senators (21-2-3).

"We were rattled. We were down," said Rowden. "And on (Springfield's) restarts, I don't know where our team was. We were ball-watching. That led to their two goals."

"But we're out and it doesn't matter. We're going to state. It was a learning experience from a poorly played game."

Rowden said the Kahoks were flat after an emotional 1-0 victory ry in two overtimes on Monday over Granite City. Senior midfielder Kevin Kriemeyer agreed.

"We had two games in a row that were pretty draining," said Kriemeyer, including last Saturday's 1-0 win over O'Fallon.

"There was a little anxiousness among the guys about going to (See KAHOKS, Page 2B)

John Coziar, 17, picked as GSLBA 'Star of Tomorrow'

John Coziar, 17, of Granite City has been selected as the 1991 Greater St. Louis Bowling Association "Star of Tomorrow." Coziar, the son of John and Jan Coziar, received his award at the annual Hall of Fame banquet Oct. 26. Coziar has been bowling for seven years. He has two perfect games and an 811 series. This year, he carried a 217 average in the Bowland Junior Scratch League. He also had a 214 average in the Bowland Major League.

Coziar has also won three Junior Archway titles and one Gateway Classic title. He has earned scholarships in the Gateway Invitational Tournament, the Junior Archway Harvey Herrmann/Don McClaren Tournament, the 1990 Junior Regional Scholarships Tournament in Omaha, Neb., and the same tournament this year in Denver.

Coziar has served on the Junior Archway board of directors and is a senior at Granite City High School, where he also participates in baseball and basketball. He is an honor student and is listed in the "Who's Who of American High School Students."

This is the third time in four years a Bowland junior bowler has been selected as the top junior bowler in the area by the GSLBA. Doug Buehrer won the award in 1990 and Stacy Jackson won in 1988.

Chandler burns old mates; goal was 'dream come true'

By Dave Whaley
Staff writer

Matt Chandler has a unique perspective on the Granite City-Collinsville soccer rivalry. He's been on both sides of it.

That's not that unusual in sports. Players are traded all the time, often from one rival team to another. But it doesn't work that way in high school. So when Chandler's family moved from Granite City to Collinsville two years ago, the Kahoks made the equivalent of a free agent acquisition with no compensation required.

That move has paid off in a big way, particularly this week. Chandler, now a senior, is one of the Kahoks' top scoring threats. He had a goal and an assist in Tuesday's 3-2 win over Springfield in the Granite City Super-Sectional which sent Collinsville to state. But what Granite City fans will remember most of all is his goal in sudden death overtime Monday which limited the Warriors 1-0 in the Collinsville sectional final.

"It was a dream come true," said Chandler. "When I moved over here, all I could think about was someday scoring a goal state. It's a little bit harder to get up when there's not as big a crowd. I think we'll get up a little better at state."

CHS took a 1-0 lead at 10:54. A Springfield fullback tried to stop the Kahoks' rush by kicking the ball to goalkeeper Rob Mengerman, but senior Matt Chandler beat each of them and scored into a wide-open net. For Chandler, it was his seventh goal in the last seven games.

But the Senators tied the game at 17:14 following a throw-in. Springfield's David Good got to the ball and lofted a good, arching kick in front of the net. Jesse Taylor was there to head it past CHS goalkeeper Mike Bolandis.

Neither team had many opportunities in the second quarter, but the Kahoks began applying the heat to the Senators in the third period. Finally, at 44:46, they struck again.

Chandler headed the ball to the left of Mengerman where Jason Digrolamo tapped a shot into the left side of the net for a 2-1 lead.

At 66:35, Kahok senior Mike Verman was taken down in the penalty area. Officials awarded a penalty kick to CHS, and Steve Van Dyke delivered it for a 3-1 lead.

"That should have lifted us, but we let down," said Rowden. Less than two minutes later, Springfield climbed back into the game — in familiar style. Good, once again, found Taylor free behind the Kahoks' defense. Taylor took the pass and drilled an easy 15-yard shot past Bolandis, who had no chance.

Bolandis, however, did stop Springfield's last gasp. With the final seconds ticking off the clock, the senior stopped Justin Stone's free kick to preserve the victory.

"It's fun, but we've got a lot to build on," said Rowden. "We're going to make sure we have our restarts (defense) ready Friday. We haven't given up goals on restarts all year."

against Granite City. Doing it in a playoff game and moving on to the next round was great.

Chandler grew up in Granite City and was a Warrior through his sophomore year (1989). He played in the freshman and junior varsity programs before moving to Collinsville as a junior.

"It was a parental move," said Chandler. "We just wanted a change of location. But it's worked out very well."

Chandler was a bit apprehensive at first about the move. Although the Warriors have enjoyed the majority of success in the rivalry at the high school level, things were a bit different for Chandler growing up.

"When I was playing in Granite City for soccer, we always used to lose to Collinsville," he said. "So I thought maybe we would win when I came over here for high school. But it was very close all the way."

The Warriors won three one-picked up 12 yards and Granite City had a first down at the 23. But two motion penalties set them back and Marshall's pass for Dowlat into the end zone on third and 12 from the 25 was tipped and Fisher intercepted it with 17 seconds left in the half.

East St. Louis was penalized for being late out of the locker room at halftime and had to kick off from the 25. The Warriors took advantage by driving 61 yards in six plays. Vaughn picked up 39 yards on four carries, including a 13-yard burst up the middle for a score with 8:41 left in the third quarter. But Chris Peeler couldn't handle the snap and Les Nunes wasn't able to get off the extra point attempt to keep the score at 19-6.

Vaughn had a 55-yard run around right end on the next drive, but that was the only other play to mount. Fisher capped off an eight-play, 70-yard drive after Vaughn's score with a 36-yard run from right to left. Robinson's PAT made it 26-6 with 4:02 left in the third quarter.

Granite City had a first down at the Flyer 20 after a roughing-the-passer call against East St. Louis on a fake punt. But Vaughn was stopped on fourth and two at the 12 on the last play of the third quarter.

Trojans need to improve performance in classroom

By Brian Henry Correspondent

It was a frustrating season for Trojan football players, coaches and fans — to say the least.

After dropping the first seven games, Madison did manage to win the last two. The Trojans unleashed a great deal of frustration Friday with a 44-0 win over winless Lutheran East to close out the schedule. Madison piled up 325 yards, with Eddie Ingram rushing for 89 yards and three touchdowns. William Russell, a late-season surprise, ran for 78 yards and scored the first touchdown.

"This year has been a teaching experience," said first-year coach Mark Jiles. "For most of these kids, it's been their first year of organized football. We had our problems early, but I think the kids passed the final exam."

The final two exams on the field went OK, but it was classroom exams which caused most of the problems this year. District 12 regulations state that a player must maintain a 2.0 grade point average and cannot be failing more than one class in order to play.

Ineligibility was a problem almost every week. Against powerful Dupon on Oct. 4, the Trojans had only 13 players in uniform. Fortunately, a heavy storm cut the second half short and the game ended only 27-0 — one of three times Madison was shut out.

"In our last two games, we were playing teams that go by the same (academic) rules as we do," Jiles said. "Next year, we'll be able to plan for this. We're going to get the players in a study hall. We're going to watch over them and see that they get the job done.

"I've talked to the superintendent and everyone else, but I don't see that rule being overturned."

The tough standards might have been a motivating force in the transfer of James Wellmaker to Venice. Jiles said Wellmaker might play football again as part of the co-op program next year, but he will play basketball for the Red Devils.

On top of their other problems, the Trojans played a murderous schedule. Waterloo, Columbia, Dupon and Johnston City all made the playoffs and outscored Madison 176-14.

"Not too many people understand how tough our schedule was," said Jiles. "Those towns have little league programs and they're quite a ways ahead of us."

Senior quarterback Cernyn Macon was probably the most consistent player. In many games, he was practically the entire offense. Russell scored three touchdowns in the last two games.

Jiles said Wilbur Glasper would probably get the first chance at quarterback in 1992. The Trojans lose three seniors (Macon, Warren Kostencki and Marquis Woolfolk).

"We've got some obvious questions next year," said Jiles. "We just have to make sure we can take care of the off-field problems first."

A.O. Smith earnings are 'disappointing'

A.O. Smith Corp. of Milwaukee announced third-quarter earnings of $542,000 or seven cents per share on sales of $213.8 million.

The results compared with 1990 third-quarter earnings of $5.1 million or 60 cents per fully diluted share. Third-quarter 1990 sales were $224.8 million.

The corporation continues to feel the effects of the U.S. recession, particularly in its Automotive Products Company.

Lower volumes and startup costs associated with 1992 model-year products affected third-quarter sales and earnings of that unit, A.O. Smith's largest operating company.

Sales were nearly 9 percent lower during the period and earnings were substantially below the previous year's third quarter.

"We began production during the quarter at three new regional plants as well as initiating a major new product launch at our Milwaukee operation," Robert J. O'Toole, president and chief executive officer, explained.

"The costs involved in moving up to full-scale production at those sites adversely affected Automotive's earnings."

"Volumes at our other operating companies approached last year's levels, indicating that the recession may be moderating in some of our markets," O'Toole continued.

"Earnings continue to be disappointing and we still do not expect a significant recovery until 1992."

For the first nine months of 1991, the corporation lost $369,000 or five cents per share on sales of $656.4 million. In 1990, nine-month earnings were $20.8 million or $2.35 per share on sales of $728 million.

Its product lines include auto and truck structural components, fractional horsepower and hermetic electric motors, residential and commercial water heating systems, fiberglass reinforced piping systems, inorganic protective industrial coatings, agricultural feed storage systems, agricultural financing, and industrial/municipal water and bulk storage systems.

ST. LOUIS CELEBS

Edward Shepherd Mead
Author

Harry Hamm

Edward Shepherd Mead was born April 26, 1914 in St. Louis to Edward Mead, an advertising salesman, and Sarah Shepherd Mead. Both are now deceased. Mead graduated from Country Day School in 1932 and earned a bachelor's of arts degree in 1936 at Washington University. He and his late wife Annabelle, have three children: Sally, Shepherd and Ted. Mead, who lives on the grounds of the Hurlingham Club, an exclusive sporting club in London, England, was in St. Louis Oct. 16 to pick up a Distinguished Alumnus Award from Country Day School.

Occupation: Author, lecturer and retired advertising executive. After college, Mead went to work as a copy supervisor at the Benton & Bowles advertising firm in New York City, where he rose to the position of vice president of television copy by the time he retired in 1966. A prolific author who has written 17 novels and humorous books, as well as a biography of playwright Tennessee Williams, he is best known for "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying," a humorous novel written in 1953, and "The Admen," a novel that was selected a main selection of the Reader's Digest Book Club in 1959. A musical based on "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying" won a 1962 Pulitzer Prize for producers Cy Seur and Ernest Martin.

My fondest memories of St. Louis: "Are of my mother. We had money when I was just a child, and a lovely home on Parkway near Washington University, but we lost it because of financial problems. It was only through friends of my mother that I was able to get a full scholarship and even go to Country Day and get a good start on my education. While at Country Day, I was the shortest, poorest and least popular kid in school."

I left St. Louis: "Because I wanted to get into broadcasting and New York was the place to go. My position at Benton & Bowles helped me get a side job on the radio on a program called 'Your True Adventures,' which was on the Columbia Broadcasting System. I read letters from listeners who had experienced exciting or unusual events. We dramatized the letters, but the stories were true." I got started in writing by: "Getting up earlier than most people every morning and writing every day. Mostly, I just wrote about people I knew, people I worked with and people around me. It provided me with almost endless material. The important thing was that I wrote every day."

I am most proud that: "'How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying' has been translated as a play into 12 different languages. On almost any day of the week, the show is being performed somewhere in the world."

I moved to Europe: "Because I had the money to do it. We worked hard and earned what we had, so we thought that once I was retired, we should live wherever we wanted to."

What I remember the most about St. Louis is: "The horrible, hot summers and the humidity. It got so bad we used to go to Michigan and stay at a friend's place during the summers."

Loggins writes songs from the heart

By Alan Sculley
Correspondent

The last half of the 1980s saw a new side to Kenny Loggins, who will perform tonight at Fox Theater.

In contrast to his acoustic days of the 1970s with partner Jim Messina and the pop-jazz fusion accents on his early solo albums, music fans discovered Loggins the consummate pop craftsman.

Such rocking hit songs to move like soundtracks as "Footloose," and "Danger Zone" (from "Top Gun") had placed him squarely in the category of arena-filling pop star.

Those tunes gave him the satisfaction of knowing he could craft hit songs. But Loggins, in a recent interview, said by the time he began work on his new album, "Leap Of Faith," he wanted something more.

"I had gotten too far from my own heart," he said. "The time I made 'Back to Avalon' (Loggins' most recent album, released in 1988), I was barely on that record. And I think the reason for that was the well was dry. It was other people's music with me singing it and other people producing it."

But even longtime fans, who know such heartfelt tunes as "This Is It," "Danny's Song" or "Celebrate Me Home," may be startled at just how personal Loggins gets on "Leap Of Faith." The album, in part, chronicles his split from his wife, Eva, and the beginning of an even greater love with a nutrition counselor from San Barbara, Calif., named Julia Cooper.

Loggins explained the evolution of the "Leap Of Faith" album this way:

"It was sparked pretty much by that part of my show where I'll sit on the edge of the stage and do a couple of acoustic tunes and create a real one-on-one atmosphere with an audience," Loggins said. "And so I started writing more acoustic guitar music."

Simultaneously with that, a couple of conclusions had come to me," he said. "One was that my marriage was coming to an end, and all that entailed was falling down on me. And the other was that artistically I felt that I had never really committed myself to making the record of my life."

"I wanted every song on the album to matter to me the way 'Celebrate Me Home' matters to me," he said. "And that meant holding out for the more meaningful lyrics and forcing myself to go in and write that stuff down."

Loggins' separation occurred about halfway through the songwriting for "Leap Of Faith." He said he had completed several tracks for the album, including "The Real Thing," about a father explaining to his children the reasons for their parents' breakup, and "Now or Never," which captures the moment when a man realizes he must reinvent his life in order to find true happiness.

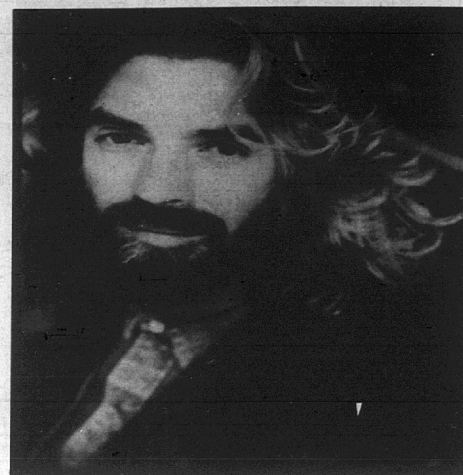

Soon thereafter, he fell in love with Cooper, and this event added a new dimension to the work in progress.

Loggins said he had known Cooper for six years before they became involved. Yet at the time of his separation two years ago he had no idea their friendship would change into love. All he knew, Loggins said, was he needed to radically change his life and begin a search for a deeper, truer love somewhere else.

"That first verse (of the song 'Leap Of Faith') lays it all out. 'From the mountain he could watch it all burn/Welcome friend to use, a point of no return,'" Loggins said. "I knew I'd hit it. I knew I was there, and all that was left was to burn everything down and see what happened."

"I think that's important, especially in the people tend to stay in their relationship until another one comes along," he said. "And what 'Leap Of Faith' is about is following your intuition, following your heart and doing what your heart needs, whether or not there's something better. There are no insurance policies here."

As that statement suggests, "Leap Of Faith" does not paint a fairly tale picture of love. As important as it is to believe true love exists, it's also necessary to realize it holds no guarantees, Loggins said.

Kenny Loggins emerging with new sound.

"You know, people try to promise each other the future because they're so scared about the future," he said. "And so security becomes an important, essential focus to the marriage vow."

"Security is a lie," he said. And security is a placation of our fears. Every time we demand security from our lover, we're letting our fear lead. We can't play God and promise love in the future."

"We can only promise our commitment to staying in the scary place of love and our commitment to staying open-hearted with our lover and totally honest, totally truthful."

Exposing so many inner feelings is a step few songwriters take. Yet Loggins said it was necessary for him.

"My view is that art, any form of art that moves us, has got to be close emotionally to the artist," he said. "If it doesn't move the artist, I seriously doubt that it's going to move anybody else."

From what he has seen in the first weeks since "Leap Of Faith" was released, Loggins has no doubt his new music has had an impact.

"I don't know how to say it any other way, but my sense of it is that it was given to me, this music, because it is such a departure from my pop music," he said.

"It was given to me as a healing for people who are in crises. And I've gotten a lot of letters from people who are in crises thanking me for it."
